

Yesterday, I went to a party with my friend David. He studies English with me at university. He wanted to be introduced to Lucy who he fancied. David and I sat in the corner of the room. He didn't make the first move to go and see her. He waited for so long to tell her that he had a crush on her. He took a drink to get some energy and after a few minutes of endless hesitation, he walked to her. David remained mute. She gave a hint of a smile, noticing David blushing. She asked him if he enjoyed the party. He whispered 'Yes' and had a glance at me. I winked at him. That was it. Feeling reassured and confident, he told her which feelings he was experiencing. She suddenly looked sullen. She looked embarrassed. She could hardly say a word but after a little while, she said: 'I'm sorry to deceive you but actually I fancy Sebastian'. David fainted: 'a friend in need is a friend indeed'!!

This test comes from <https://www.tolearnenglish.com> - the site to learn English (test n°4183) -
Copyright www.tolearnenglish.com - All rights reserved - It is forbidden to reproduce, republish, redistribute, resell or translate any materials from this site in either machine-readable form or any other form.